

Rockwell Collins Day

at the Iowa Children's Museum

It's going to be seriously fun.

Activities and experiments

Balloon flinker

Hoop glider

"See" sounds

Gumdrop dome

Come early – the first 50 visitors receive a free gift!

When you and your child experience Rockwell Collins Day at the Iowa Children's Museum, learning fundamentals of engineering will feel like child's play.

It's a day of exploration, where museum admission is free and curiosity is wildly encouraged. You and your family will have the chance to conduct experiments and do other activities with real engineers from Rockwell Collins. And if that's not enough, there will be kid prizes, too!

When: Saturday, Feb. 15
10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Where: Iowa Children's Museum
(in Coral Ridge Mall, across from the ice rink)
1451 Coral Ridge Avenue
Coralville, Iowa

Admission: Free